The Ultimate Game Show Quiz is a fun and interactive activity that's guaranteed to provide teams with some really upbeat and competitive fun. With a range of quiz rounds that reflect a number of different game shows, the event is guaranteed to get teams re-living their favourite shows and competing against each other as they go head to head in a number of fun and upbeat rounds.

What's involved?

The Ultimate Game Show is a unique activity designed to provide teams with a really different, innovative and fun event.

The show begins with our Game Show host introducing the event and outlining to the teams what each round involves. In addition, the rules are outlined to ensure a good, clean game!

As soon as this has been done, it's down to action as teams compete in rounds focused on a number of well known game shows.

During the event, the teams will be put through their paces experiencing the very best from a variety of shows. Specific rounds can be tailored to meet specific client briefs and can include anything from the Generation Game or a Question of Sport to Catchphrase or Countdown to name but a few.

All the rounds are displayed to the audience via conference based AV equipment, screen and projector and each round can accommodate any number of people from the teams. As an activity, it really can be tailor made to meet your specific brief.

The Ultimate Game Show is a popular event to round off a day before, during or after dinner but it can also be run as a standalone activity or be incorporated into a wider conference programme.

Guaranteed to involve all and provide teams with a fun and memorable activity, the Ultimate Game Show is a must for team's looking for something a little different to entertain and amuse their team!

What have people said?

'After a long day it was good to be able to relax and enjoy such a well run and professional event'.
